

GDPR - EGB's LAWFUL BASIS

Review of Lawful Basis

EGB has reviewed the purposes of our processing activities and selected the most appropriate lawful basis for each activity.

EGB has checked that the processing is necessary for the relevant purpose and are satisfied that there is no other reasonable way to achieve that purpose.

EGB has documented our decision on which lawful basis applies to help us demonstrate compliance.

EGB has included information about both the purposes of the processing and the lawful basis for the processing in its Privacy Notice.

EGB does process special category data. Medical information may be used in the event of an accident. Disability information is used to enable reasonable adjustments to be made to ride rules so that para riders can compete on an equitable basis. EGB also collects staff sickness details and carries out DBS checks when safeguarding regulations require them.

EGB's lawful basis for collecting this data?

EGB collects personal data for its Members, Non-Member / Supporters, Day Members, Volunteers and Staff that is necessary for the purposes of its legitimate interests as a membership organisation and as the authority of an internationally recognised and regulated, competitive sport.

For some data, such as that relating to financial matters, the basis for its collection and retention is to comply with our legal obligations.

Similarly, personnel data is kept in compliance with our legal obligations.
